A LETTER FROM OUR FOUNDING CEO

Dear Friends and Supporters,

As we reflect on this past year, we are both humbled and inspired by all that has unfolded—moments of resilience, connection, and purpose. In the spirit of our 2024 Gala theme, "Everyday Superheroes," we are reminded that true heroism isn't found in grand gestures but in the countless acts of dedication and courage shown by our community. Together, we have faced the fiercest storms, both figuratively and literally, with a spirit that shines brighter than any challenge we encounter.

We believe that it takes a village to make a lasting impact, and this year was a powerful testament to that truth. With your support, we were able to participate in initiatives like the U.S. Marshals Service Missing Child Operation, which led to the safe recovery of 27 children. Thanks to your unwavering generosity, we provided for these children's immediate needs—securing placements, covering essentials like clothing and food, and extending heartfelt care to each child during a vulnerable time. The success of this operation serves as a stark reminder of why we do this work and of the critical importance of our community's involvement.

This year also brought literal storms, reminding us of the unpredictable challenges our organization must be prepared for. But no matter the weather, Redefining Refuge remains a sanctuary for those we serve, a place where hope and healing are nurtured and fortified by a community that refuses to back down in the face of hardship.

To every one of our supporters, volunteers, and partners, thank you for standing with us. We may not wear capes, but together, we continue to fight for justice, safety, and healing for every vulnerable child. It's because of your commitment that we can continue to grow, adapt, and rise to the call for a brighter future.

With deepest gratitude,

Natasha Nazimento

A LETTER FROM OUR BOARD PRESIDENT

We've often said that "It takes a village" and this past year, that truth came to life in the most beautiful way.

At Redefining Refuge, our mission has always been rooted in compassion, collaboration, and community. And in 2024, our Village showed up for our kiddos like never before. From the launch of new initiatives to the creation of a long-envisioned community space, it was a year filled with heart, purpose, and hope.

Two years ago at our annual Gala, Simon Canasi generously pledged $100,000 on behalf of the Adele Bennett Memorial Fund to support our dream of a dedicated community-based facility. With the help of several of our 'villagers,' that dream became a reality. Our new space now serves as a vital "home base" with dedicated rooms for tutoring, therapy, reading, and even showers, creating a nurturing environment where our youth feel safe and seen.

From the moment we opened the doors, our community sprang into action. Keller Williams and other local partners helped prepare the space through volunteer days and generous donations. Artists and decorators added beauty and warmth—from custom wreaths to hallway murals—while countless volunteers brought supplies, wrapped holiday gifts, assembled care baskets, and supported us at every turn.

In January, we joined our Mayor as she turned the city blue for Human Trafficking Awareness Month—a powerful gesture that placed our mission front and center. Throughout the year, our incredible media partner, Cracker Jack Media, helped us amplify our voice, expand our reach, and engage even more hearts across the region.

We celebrated another magical Mommy & Me High Tea, led by Alyssa Rhoads and Eventing Tampa Bay. With princesses, fairies, cookie decorating, and glam stations, moms and littles alike enjoyed a day of joy and whimsy—all in support of our Cause.

We also took All Hands on Deck to new heights on World Day Against Human Trafficking. With the support of dozens of businesses and over 150 attendees, our community came together—literally leaving their mark—by stamping blue "butterfly hands" on a stunning art installation that now lives in our new center.

One of the most moving moments of the year came when one of our kiddos, isolated in detention for weeks, received letters every single day—from you. You became her Village. She read each note, learned your names, and felt the love of an entire community rallying behind her. That kind of impact is immeasurable—and unforgettable.

We can't always share every detail of the work we do. But please know this: your time, your resources, and your belief in us change lives every single day. From the bottom of our hearts, thank you for being our Village. We can't wait to continue building hope together in 2025.

Redefining Refuge's courageous battle against sex trafficking

"Kids need a hug, not handcuffs." - Natasha Nascimento

NATASHA NASCIMENTO

Did you know that for many years, minor children were arrested for prostitution in the state of Florida despite being forced to engage in inappropriate and horrific behavior against their will?

Redefining Refuge Founder and Executive Director Natasha Nascimento was outraged when she learned this and was determined to make a difference. In 2010, she organized a public awareness campaign designed to educate and, ultimately, influence state legislation. Fortunately, she succeeded.

Changing Florida laws further demonstrated that there is a need for programs to help young sex trafficking victims, says Nascimento.

This led her to oversee the development of a safe house program, which launched in 2012. Redefining Refuge's safe house program was the first of its kind in the Tampa Bay area. It provided care, and assistance, to girls in an undisclosed location between the ages of 12 and 17. While the safe house program was able to serve many young victims, it was limited by state law. Only girls of a certain age range could be cared for.

Nascimento, understanding the ever-increasing need for programs for minors of all ages and genders, realized she could do much more if Redefining Refuge made its services mobile. In 2019, she decided to close the safe house program and extend her organization's services. Redefining Refuge would assist 93 victims in the first year, after making those changes.

Redefining Refuge provides comprehensive care to the victims it serves. Services the organization offers include a variety of alternative therapies and mental health programs, the facilitation of medical care and non-medical needs, educational assistance, and the purchasing of groceries and back to school supplies, among others.

There is a misconception that most children forced into the sex trafficking trade are crossing borders, Nascimento says. This could not be further from the truth. Frighteningly, 85% of trafficked children are community children, according to the National Human Trafficking Hotline. Even worse, most of these children are involved in familial sex trafficking and are sold in the trafficking market so that a parent, or guardian, with a substance abuse addiction can get their needs met, Nascimento says.

In 2023, Redefining Refuge was able to serve 131 children through referrals. The prior year, they helped 142. As demonstrated by numbers alone, there is a concerning need for the organization's services in the Tampa Bay area. The Redefining Refuge team has participated in missing child operations in collaboration with the United States Marshals Service, Florida Department of Children and Families, Children's Network of Hillsborough and other organizations. According to a United States Marshals Service press re-

DEAR JOHN,

THE EXPLOITATION, BUYING, SELLING, AND ABUSE OF THE CHILDREN IN OUR COMMUNITY WILL NOT BE TOLERATED.

NOT ON 813 DAY. NOT EVER.

NOT IN MY CITY.

lease, 10 of Hillsborough County's most endangered children were recovered because of their combined efforts.

When speaking about her "why," Nascimento defines Redefining Refuge's mission in a profound, yet simple statement. "Kids need a hug, not handcuffs." Sex trafficking is a serious human rights issue and children forced into the trafficking trade should have access to services, she elaborated. "One child is too many children being trafficked."

While Redefining Refuge has already helped so many children in need since its establishment, Nascimento has ambitious goals for its future. The organization is currently developing a community center, which will be a reliable resource and safe space for trafficked children.

Additionally, Nascimento wants to influence more state legislation. Trafficked children are still frequently required to testify against their perpetrators in court. Not only can this make children relive horrible experiences but can be even more painful if a child is testifying against their parent or guardian, she explained.

Nascimento and the Redefining Refuge team also want to educate others about how social media is being used to target children. Social media has presented a "big issue" for us, Nascimento says. More children are being exposed and social media is attracting the unwanted attention of pedophiles.

Every day, Redefining Refuge is making a difference. Nascimento is adamant that the organization will continue to serve until the sex trafficking trade is fully eliminated. For the countless children who are being victimized, Redefining Refuge not only provides essential support but gives the gift of something irreplaceable. Hope. ♦

ALYSSA RHOADS

WORLD DAY AGAINST TRAFFICKING 2024

All Hands On Deck isn't just a call, it's a charge.

Because Human Trafficking doesn't end with awareness alone.
It ends with action.

This year, in Partnership with Crackerjack Media; we took that action beyond our walls, launching our first-ever All Hands On Deck Roadshow to ignite corporate engagement across Tampa Bay and beyond. From boardrooms to break rooms, businesses of every size joined our fight, proving that advocacy isn't confined to a single sector but belongs to everyone.

It takes every voice, every gift, every profession, and every person who dares to believe they can make a difference.

Whether you're a policymaker or a parent, a teacher or a techie, a CEO or a cashier, you are needed in this fight.

Because the truth is:
When every hand is on deck, every child stands a chance.

MAYOR PROCLAMATION

We were deeply honored to receive an official Proclamation from Mayor Jane Castor in recognition of Human Trafficking Awareness Month. Her commitment to the cause was not only written into words, but illuminated across the city.

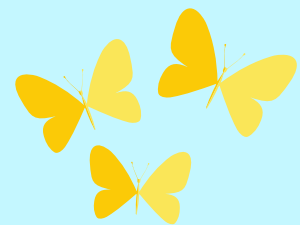

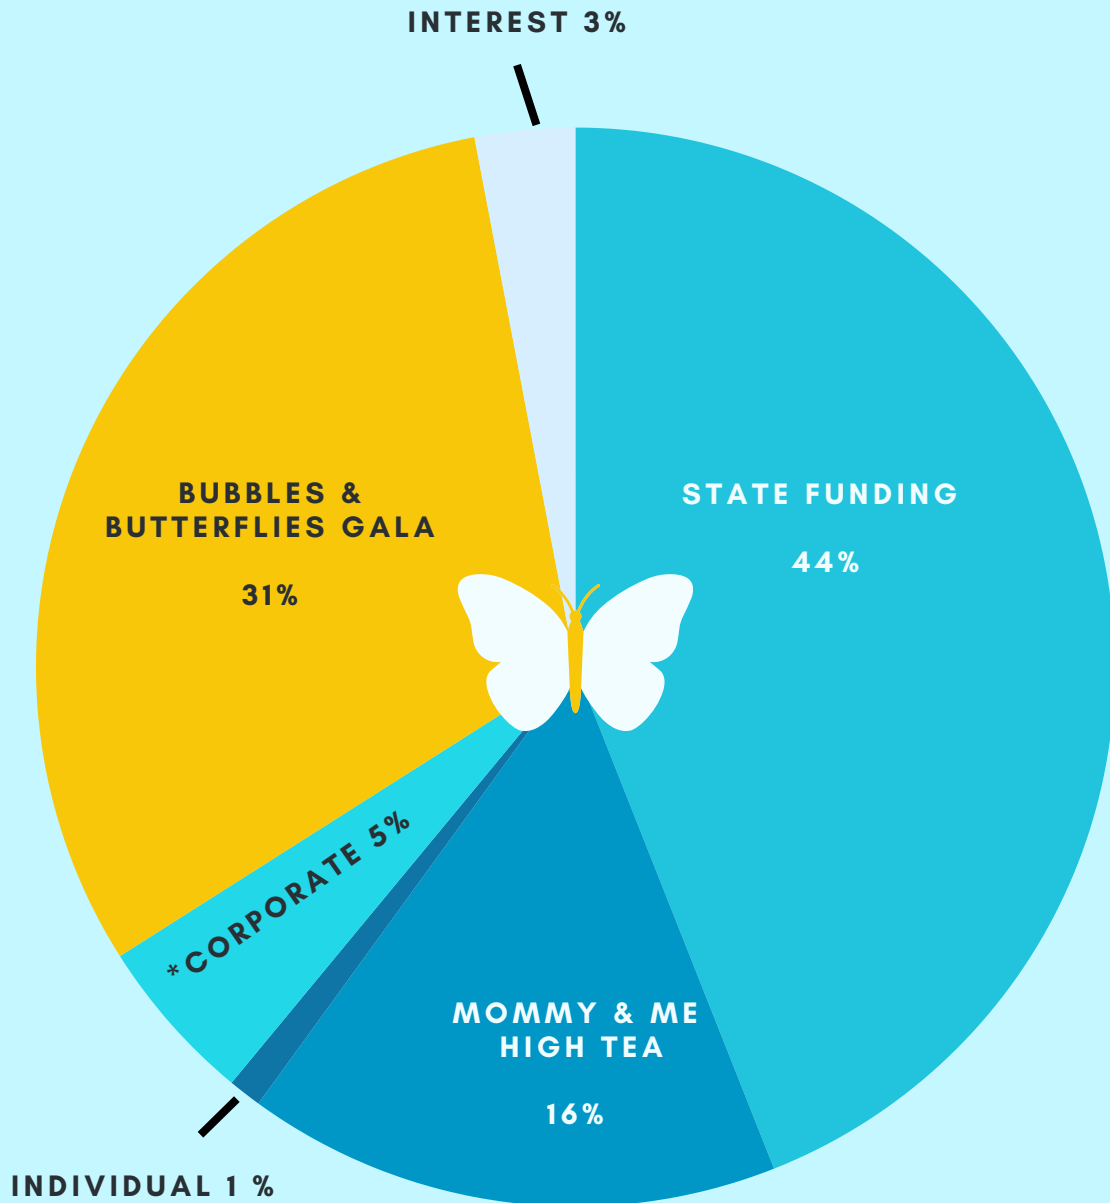

As night fell, Tampa turned blue in solidarity with survivors and in recognition of the ongoing fight to end human trafficking. To see our skyline reflect the very mission we've dedicated our hearts to was powerful beyond measure.

Thank you, Mayor Castor, for standing with us and for lighting the way forward.

OPERATION SEMINOLE SABER

Operation Seminole Saber marked one of the most impactful multi-agency collaborations of the year, resulting in the recovery of 27 missing children across the state of Florida.

Redefining Refuge proudly served as the official command post for this statewide operation, working alongside federal and local law enforcement to provide immediate, trauma-informed care and post-recovery support. This operation stands as a powerful testament to what's possible when agencies come together with a unified mission: to protect and restore the lives of our most vulnerable children.
